Iracker News

Microwaye Telemetry, Inc.

1991-2006 A Celebration

In Roman mythology, Janus, the god of gates, doorways, beginnings and endings In Roman mythology, Janus, the god of gates, doorways, directions Innus was off In Koman mythology, Janus, the god of gates, doorways, beginnings and enauges of gates, doorways, doo was usually depicted with two faces looking in opposite directions. Janus was often used to symbolize change, transition from past to future, from one vision to another.

As our company colobrates its fifteenth year please ioin us in looking back and Dear Customers and Friends, used to symbolize change, transition from past to future, from one vision to anothe

As our company celebrates its fifteenth year, please join us in looking back and

We hope you will enjoy going down memory lane with we hope you will enjoy going about menory time with us as we fondly remember our humble beginnings (in looking forward! the basement of my house), our first product, our first the basement of my house) the busement of my mouse), our first product, our first enjoyed our customers, and many other firsts. We have enjoyed our journey despite many difficulties along the way. have back with gratitude to you, our customers: you have supported us, urged us on and encouraged us. To show our appreciation, we are donating transmitters for a raffle and for a school project, hoping to encourage young people to have an interest in science. We will also have some freebies in our winter newsletter.

As I mentioned in our last newsletter, our longevity has given us the opportunity of working with some customers for many years. We feature here the work the National Research Avian Center, with whom we have had the the National Research Arian Center, with whom we have had the pleasure of working since 1995. We especially thank Mark Lawrence for his pleasure of working since 1995. We have bustered the Hombard bustered faccinating article on tracking the Hombard bustered. being carried out in the United Arab Emirates by

As we look ahead, we remain committed to improving our products and our products are products and our products and our products are products and our products are products and our products are products are products and our products are producted as a product are products are producted as a product are producted as a producted are product As we look anead, we remain committed to improving our products and our most Furnment Arms users are experiencing. To improve our electroner service. pressure of working the Houbara bustard. fascinating article on tracking the customer service. We are working with CLS in resolving the interference problem. To improve our customer service, we most European Argos users are experiencing. To improve production Form niusi Europeun Argos users are experiencing. To improve our cusionier servances Europeun Argos users are experiencing on-line Production Form. are delighted to introduce our new user friendly We look forward to the next fifteen years while we endeavor to push the envelope of this tachnolom. We are now working on many now developmental projects that we this tachnolom. We look forward to the next fifteen years while we endeavor to push the envelope of many new developmental projects that we this technology. We are now working on many new of satellite animal tracking the scape of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scape of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scape of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scape of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scape of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scape of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scape of satellite animal tracking believe will be a second to the scape of satellite animal tracking the scape of satellite animal tracking believe will be a second to the scape of satellite animal tracking the scape of satellite animal tracking believe will be a second to the scape of satellite animal tracking the scape of satellite animal this technology. We are now working on many new developmental projects that we believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scope of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scope of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scope of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scope of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scope of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scope of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scope of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scope of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scope of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scope of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scope of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scope of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and extend the scope of satellite animal tracking the scope of satellite animal tracking believe will help a lot of customers and the scope of satellite animal tracking the scope of sa veneve with new a tot of customers and extend the set into new realms. Stay tuned for our next newsletter!

Have a productive field season and a good summer.

paul and the staff at MTI Sincerely,

Down Memory Lane Page 2

The Houbara Bustard Page 4

Free Transmitters Page 6

Argos Update Page 8

Microwave Telemetry, Inc.

8835 Columbia 100 Parkway Suites K & L Columbia, Maryland 21045

Phone 410.715.5292

Fax 410.715.5295

Email microwt@aol.com

www.microwavetelemetry.com

Houbara bustard displaying