Here at MTI, we try to take time to extend our gratitude, especially during the holidays, for your continued support, friendship, and the health and happiness of our staff. In the past, a small token of our appreciation has been enclosed with our winter newsletter. However, the global crises of the last year, and our sustained interest in education, have urged us to make a donation instead. We've chosen to support educational efforts for refugee children in Turkey through a US-based charity, Karam Foundation, and their “Learn Not Earn” program. Unfortunately, many Syrian children now taking refuge in Turkey are not afforded the opportunity to attend school or are forced to forfeit their education in order to provide financially for their families. The Karam Foundation offsets the potential earnings of the child and allows them to pursue an education.

Additionally, the devastating earthquake that damaged or destroyed thousands of homes and historical and religious sites in and around Nepal’s capital, Kathmandu, also destroyed many schools and, with it, many children’s opportunities to learn. To assist in rebuilding and reestablishing educational institutions for children living in areas affected by the earthquake, we are making a donation to the international charity Room to Read, and their ongoing efforts in Nepal.

Please see their websites for more details:

http://www.karamfoundation.org/education/

UPDATE

As of September 2015, another new version of the Argos 3 PTT has been certified. Again, it received a Class A rating from CLS. This new version has the potential to lead to a version even lighter than our 2g PTT. We will keep you posted, but please have patience with us as we find ways to produce them efficiently.

Here at MTI, we try to take time to extend our gratitude, especially during the holidays, for your continued support, friendship, and the health and happiness of our staff. In the past, a small token of our appreciation has been enclosed with our winter newsletter. However, the global crises of the last year, and our sustained interest in education, have urged us to make a donation instead. We've chosen to support educational efforts for refugee children in Turkey through a US-based charity, Karam Foundation, and their “Learn Not Earn” program. Unfortunately, many Syrian children now taking refuge in Turkey are not afforded the opportunity to attend school or are forced to forfeit their education in order to provide financially for their families. The Karam Foundation offsets the potential earnings of the child and allows them to pursue an education.

Additionally, the devastating earthquake that damaged or destroyed thousands of homes and historical and religious sites in and around Nepal’s capital, Kathmandu, also destroyed many schools and, with it, many children’s opportunities to learn. To assist in rebuilding and reestablishing educational institutions for children living in areas affected by the earthquake, we are making a donation to the international charity Room to Read, and their ongoing efforts in Nepal.

Please see their websites for more details:

http://www.karamfoundation.org/education/

MTI Holiday Donation

Here at MTI, we try to take time to extend our gratitude, especially during the holidays, for your continued support, friendship, and the health and happiness of our staff. In the past, a small token of our appreciation has been enclosed with our winter newsletter. However, the global crises of the last year, and our sustained interest in education, have urged us to make a donation instead. We've chosen to support educational efforts for refugee children in Turkey through a US-based charity, Karam Foundation, and their “Learn Not Earn” program. Unfortunately, many Syrian children now taking refuge in Turkey are not afforded the opportunity to attend school or are forced to forfeit their education in order to provide financially for their families. The Karam Foundation offsets the potential earnings of the child and allows them to pursue an education.

Additionally, the devastating earthquake that damaged or destroyed thousands of homes and historical and religious sites in and around Nepal’s capital, Kathmandu, also destroyed many schools and, with it, many children’s opportunities to learn. To assist in rebuilding and reestablishing educational institutions for children living in areas affected by the earthquake, we are making a donation to the international charity Room to Read, and their ongoing efforts in Nepal.

Please see their websites for more details:

http://www.karamfoundation.org/education/